MARYLAND STATE COLLEGE
PRINCESS ANNE, MARYLAND

1964

DEDICATION

To Mr. Clifton J. Anderson

To him our runners owe the splendor and speed of their feet. To him they owe their ability to run the straight race both actually and symbolically, for he preaches and practices the lesson to applaud when the race is run, console when a runner falls, cheer him when he recovers — and always to press on to higher achievement. In bringing to Maryland State College the venture of shaping champions, he has demonstrated that those who venture greatly shall win greatly: In 1961, in 1962, and again in 1963 “Cappy’s” men out-jumped and out-ran all other teams in the CIAA. In saluting our victorious coach, let us be dedicated to his ideals of modesty, gentility, hard work, and superlative performance.

Mr. Clifton J. Anderson, Track Coach and Professor of Physical Education.

Coach and Mrs. Anderson in a relaxed moment.

Joey, Pat, Linda, and "Duke" getting out their homework.

Kyle and Donny investigate their new buses; Penny dresses her doll.

"Cappy" giving the boys some points on getting out of the hole.

DR. JOHN TAYLOR WILLIAMS, PRESIDENT OF MARYLAND STATE COLLEGE

The assemblage of a distinguished faculty, the planning of an unusual library, the provision of well-equipped classrooms and laboratories — outward and visible signs of a foremost college — are prominent contributions of President Williams to the community we are privileged to inhabit. As its first citizen, he contributes something of greater importance than buildings and classrooms to that community. He gives it a life style that helps each student to realize enlightenment today so that tomorrow he may add to the world the strengths he has gained in college.

THE GOVERNOR OF THE STATE OF MARYLAND
THE HONORABLE J. MILLARD TAWES

In saluting our distinguished neighbor from Crisfield, the Governor of Maryland, we note with special emphasis and gratitude his public commitment to aid achievements of the college and university in contributing to the health and economy of the state and the building of communities of scholars.

Foreword

“What thou lovest well remains” said a poet, perhaps speaking assurance to all who love but must leave the spacious campus and towering walls, where four years have been too little room for beholding the yellow forsythia embracing the library wall in spring, the blazing rainbow of color dropping from serene trees in the fall, and the white radiance of unshattered snow sloping gently across the Trigg Hall yard in winter. When you who make the accompanying tour of Maryland State College with this year’s Hawk staff shall, in years to come, summon up remembrance of things past, you will find within these pages reassurance that what you loved well remains.

In Memoriam

GEORGE COATES, 1964

EARNEST EVANS, 1965

Our fellow students endeared themselves to us by their gaiety, charm, nobility, and generous conduct toward us all. Their lives were models for us to pattern, and we shall always miss the brightness of their presences here: Born of the sun they travelled a short while toward the sun and left their alma mater signed with the honor by which they lived.

Miss Maryland State

Louida O. Fletcher, '65, a Connecticut beauty, won the hearts of all Maryland Staters the first day she set foot on the campus. A Business Education major, she is outstanding in sports (Intramurals, a stunning figure as a cheerleader), acts and sings with grace, makes friends wherever she goes. Lovely to look at and delightful to know, Lou reigns over her subjects with dignity, charm, and love.

Lou poses for the camera with a group she has given her enthusiasm and loyalty: the Cheerleaders: Wilhelmina Mears (back to camera), Anne Wallington, Theresa Checks, Lou, Alicia Thompson, Helen Woods (Captain).

Woman of the Year

Diann Rhock

Overwhelming choice of women students this year to symbolize the best and most aspiring in the Maryland State Co-ed is a modest, unassuming Princess Anne product, Diann Rhock. An honor graduate of Somerset High School, an English major, Diann started in her freshman year the path of service to her fellow students. She has been a leading spirit in the Student NEA movement, the president of her sorority (Alpha Kappa Alpha), an officer in the English Club, a member of the Interest Group of Alpha Kappa Mu (and now a candidate for membership in that honor society), and President of the Women's Council. Dedicated service, scholarship, friendliness, all have a large share in the making of the personality of our WOMAN OF THE YEAR.
